

○School of Medicine

The School of Medicine aims to raise standards in medicine and nursing and contribute to social welfare. In addition to advanced education and research in medicine and nursing, the School of Medicine seeks to foster doctors and medical researchers who possess integrity, strong ethics and a focus on human lives above all else, and nurses and nursing researchers who possess the depth of education and strength of character required for these roles.

○Graduate School of Medicine

The Graduate School of Medicine aims to contribute to the development of the medical and nursing fields and an improvement in welfare. In medicine, the Graduate School of Medicine seeks to foster the high level of research skills and rich fundamental knowledge required to carry out independent research and other advanced specialist work in the medical field. In nursing, the Graduate School of Medicine seeks to impart deep knowledge throughout a broad scope and foster nursing research skills and the high level of skills required for advanced, specialist roles in the nursing field.
