

- Graduation Requirements of Medical Course of Medical School

Completion of 6 or more years of study and acquisition of 210 or more credits.

- Graduation Requirement of Nursing Course of Medical School

Completion of 4 or more years of study and acquisition of 124 or more credits.

- Requirements for Completion of the Graduate School of Nursing

Completion of 2 or more years of study and acquisition of 30 or more credits, in addition to passing a master's thesis defense and final examination upon receiving the necessary research guidance. A minimum of one year of study may be deemed sufficient if outstanding research results are produced. Research results may also be used as a substitute for a master's thesis in specific subjects if deemed appropriate.

- Requirements for Completion of the Graduate School of Medicine

Completion of 4 or more years of study and acquisition of 32 or more credits, in addition to passing a doctoral thesis defense and final examination upon receiving the necessary research guidance. A minimum of three years of study may be deemed sufficient if outstanding research results are produced.